

MPG Stickers Mileage-Awareness Campaign

Brought to you by mpgstickers.org and Acterra.org

Concerned about climate change, energy independence, or air pollution?

Do you currently drive a fuel-efficient vehicle? Show that mileage matters, stick your MPG rating on your bumper!

You probably know it already: the U.S. Energy Act of 2007 does not go far enough. Europe already gets 35 MPG on average today, why should we wait until 2020?

The MPG Sticker campaign aims to accelerate the adoption of fuel-efficient cars in the U.S. and beyond. You can see our stickers in all 50 states, Canada, and Puerto Rico.

By driving a fuel efficient car and displaying an MPG sticker on your bumper, you will encourage more drivers to do the same, and send a message to auto manufacturers and to the government!
